Hallowe'en in Daly City Is Like Eye of Hurricane

The quiet in the eye of a hurricane was evident in Daly City Hallowe'en night last week as San Mateo county to the south and San Francisco to the north experienced one of the most turbulent Hallowe'en "celebrations" in years.

An arrest for assaulting a police officer and an auto accident involving a young child dressed in costume marked an otherwise quiet Hallowe'en in Daly City.

The situation was quite different from the Hallowe'en of two years ago when approximately 800 unruly teenagers gathered at a Westlake drive-in restaurant and battled police officers and firemen.

Daly City Police Captain Roy Beecher said 14 reserve officers and 20 regular policemen were stationed at "strategic trouble spots" throughout Daly City. (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

JESD PLANS PROJECT

A Study of Heart and Smoking

A PROJECT unique in the Bay Area, designed to determine what effect heart education has on the smoking habits of the early adolescent, has been undertaken by the Jefferson Elementary School district.

The district will study selected classes of seventh and eighth grade students for the project. The study will take three years.

Funds for the study will be provided by the American Heart association. The project is the first of its kind in the nation backed by the national organization.

An application to the association for support funds was made by the district in June of this year.

At a meeting of the district's board of trustees Monday night, Superintendent Richard L. Foster reported that the association had allocated $1000 to the district for the first year of the project.

Foster said a similar amount would be needed in each of the succeeding years of the study.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said the study would be carried out in this manner:

Eight classes of students from different social and economic areas will be selected from this year's sixth grade enrollment.

Four of these classes will be given a special study course on the heart and circulatory system. The course will cover such facets as the effect of smoking on the heart.

The other four classes will follow the district's regular health instruction program.

In the second and third years of the project, a follow-up study, utilizing questionnaires, will be carried out to determine how the smoking habits or smoking attitudes of the two groups of classes compare.

In other words, the comparison will determine if the special study of the heart and circulatory system deterred students from starting to smoke or caused those who had begun to stop.

FOSTER TOLD the board that the American Heart association wouldn't necessarily be unhappy if the results showed that the special heart instruction didn't deter adolescents from smoking.

He explained that the project would be carried out in the Council Picks 90th Street

By RON BATES

City departments in Daly City will have one address instead of four in two years — at Ninetieth street and Sullivan avenue.

The city council chose this site for a new civic center at a special session Monday night.

Location was one of two sites that have been considered for the past month. The other was at Eighty-seventh street and Sullivan avenue.

Pacifica May Give Help in Erosion Fight

Help may come from the city of Pacifica for that community's Esplanade drive residents, whose back yards have been slipping away into the sea at about six feet per year.

Pacifica officials announced last week after a meeting with the 12 homeowners on the street that they will work on alternate solutions to the dilemma.

The problem has been long-standing but came to a head four weeks ago when the homeowners protested publicly that they feared they would be left out in the cold as far as getting help from governmental bodies, particularly the Corps of Army Engineers.

Finally, in a meeting Friday with the homeowners, Pacifica city officials said they may be able to help.

"A variety of possible solutions to the erosion problem were discussed," said Max Link, a spokesman for the homeowners, "including groins, seawalls and rock re-vestment works."

Pacifica City Engineer A. J. Roberts announced that his office would study various solutions and as soon as possible discuss them with the 12 property owners.

At the same time, methods of financing the project and relative costs were discussed.

City Attorney Conrad Reich and City Manager Karl A. Baldwin suggested either of two methods: private bank financing or creation of an assessment district. Potential lenders will be contacted this week.

In choosing the Ninetieth street location, the council followed the recommendation of city Finance Director Joseph Arch, City Engineer William Chapman and City Manager Edward Frank.

Among the reasons cited for the choice were:

Cost—the Ninetieth street location is approximately $188,000 cheaper.

Convenience—Several homes and businesses are located at the Eighty-seventh street site. The land at Ninetieth street is unimproved.

Time—the Ninetieth street site is already within the city limits.

A major portion of the Eighty-seventh street site is in an unincorporated area, which could not be brought under condemnation proceedings.

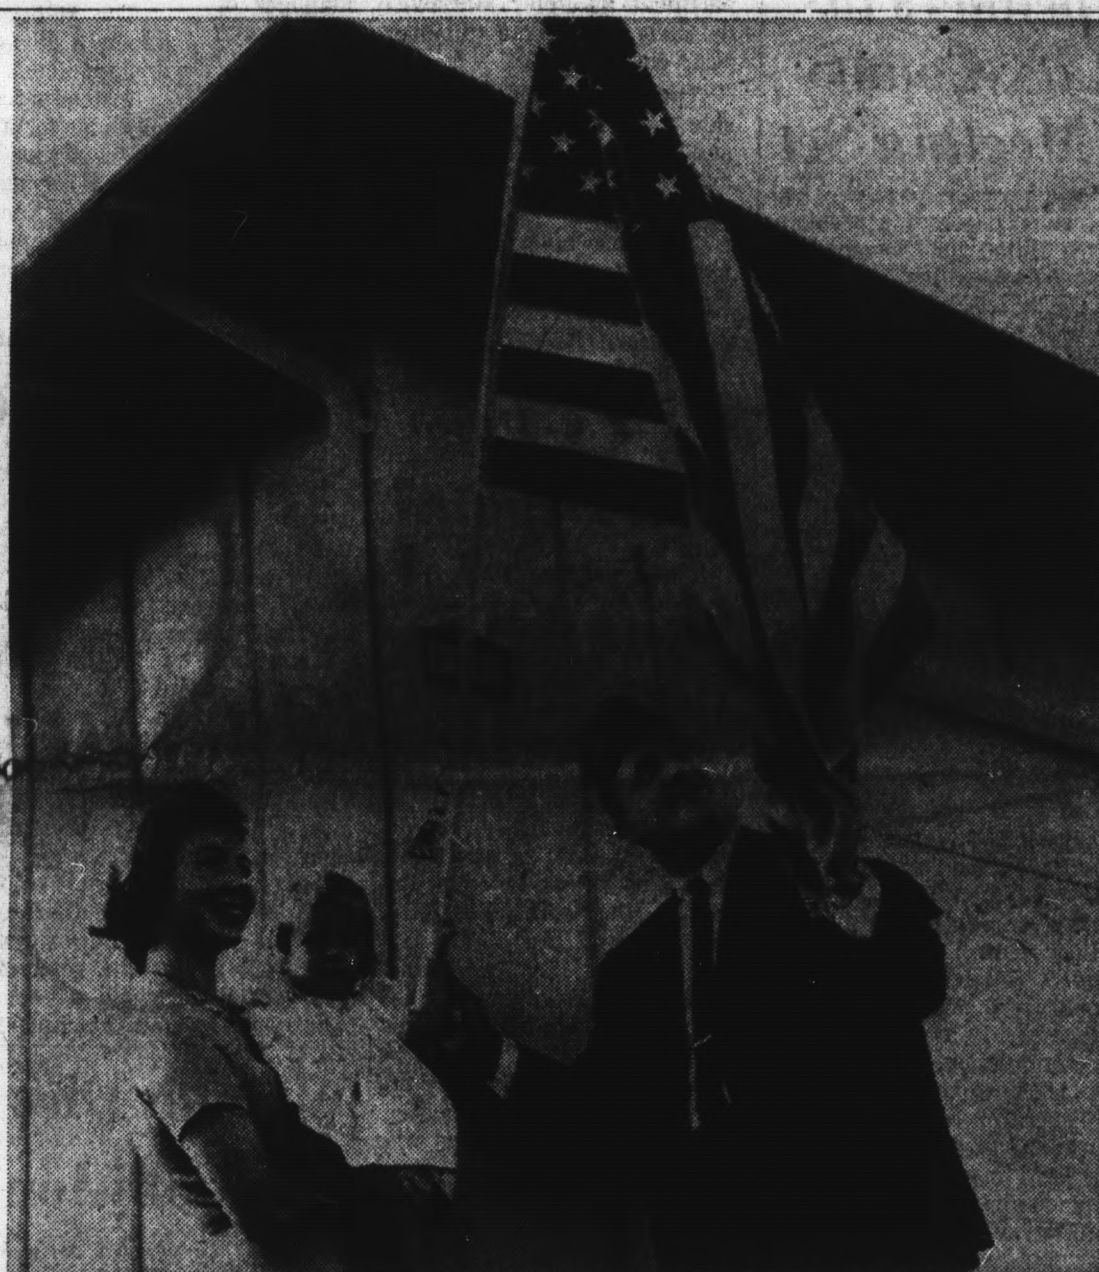

Accessibility—the Ninetieth street location would be equidistant from two proposed Junipero Serra freeway overpasses and would give emergency vehicles going north and south a better choice of routes in responding to calls.

Location—the Ninetieth street site will be closer to the geographical center of the city after the annexation of Christen Ranch.

Traffic—Chapman said future plans call for expanding Eighty-seventh street to four lanes from a two-lane road and the new building would have to be built to accommodate the expansion.

Location on Eighty-seventh street would intensify an already poor traffic situation, he said.

Parking—at Ninetieth street the city will be able to erect a building with compact, adequate parking on one block and an (Please See Page 2, Column 8)

A Pause to Honor Our Veterans

The North county will pause Monday to honor the men who have served in the armed services.

It's the annual observance of Veterans Day, a legal holiday.

School children will have the day off, banks and a number of businesses will be closed and throughout the North county, the American flag will be flown proudly by residents.

Mrs. Tony Corle and her daughter, Pamela, 2, of 1132 Manzanita drive, Pacifica, how the flag should be displayed.

Although what he has to say is important, young Pamela seems to be more interested in what the photographer is doing.

Veterans' groups, such as the American Legion, promote the display of the national emblem on all national holidays.

And Veterans Day understandably is one holiday on which they'd like to see a flag flying from every home.

Bus Policy Proposal Is Criticized

By DON MILLER

A proposed policy that would oppose transporting students out of their neighborhoods to achieve a racial balance in schools was criticized Monday night at a meeting of the Jefferson Elementary school board.

In a session that produced another spirited exchange among board members, three residents of the district declared they were opposed to the policy.

They called for more study on the issue. A fourth resident suggested the policy be tabled.

It was proposed last week by Trustee O. Wayne Douglas who asked then that it be tabled until this week for study.

The policy would declare that the district does not favor transporting pupils as a "method of eliminating ethnic, cultural, racial or religious distinctions."

In effect, it would place the board on record against transporting pupils from one school (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Hearing on Bus Rate Hike Transferred to Daly City

A hearing on a requested increase in rates by the Northgate Transit company before the Public Utilities commission has been transferred from San Francisco to Daly City, according to City Manager Edward Frank.

The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, November 14, in the City Council chambers.

Frank said the move was made to give residents an opportunity to be heard on the 5-cent over-all increase proposed by the Daly City bus line.

Several complaints have been received by the city on the company's scheduling, equipment and routing, Frank said.

SSF Permit Is Debated

The battle of the controversial dancing permit at a cocktail lounge and restaurant in the Sunshine Gardens shopping district went another round Monday night with both sides throwing blows and counterblows but without South San Francisco city councilmen coming to a decision.

Stepping into the offensive of the battle, which has ranged off and on for the past 16 months, Monday was Chris Michaels, part owner with Paul Lunardi of the restaurant at 1144 Mission road, who charged the main opponent of the proposal, Antonio Montoya, president of the Sunshine Gardens Improvement club, with using the issue as "a stepping stone" to a city council seat.

Throwing a petition to the floor which he asserted contained 200 signatures of Sunshine Garden residents favoring the dance permit, Michaels claimed that there is no longer even a Sunshine Gardens Improvement association.

"It has been defunct since 1957," Michaels asserted.

Referring to Montoya's previ-

IN NORTH COUNTY ECONOMY

A $1.4 Million Injection

A $1.4-million economic shot in the arm will be given the business community of the North county this month.

The shot will be this year's distribution of Christmas club savings accounts to bank depositors.

Since most Christmas club savers use this means of saving to accumulate funds for yuletide presents, bank officials expect nearly all of the $1.4-million to be distributed to flow into the area's economy.

The remainder of the Christmas club savers can be expected to use this November bonanza to settle taxes, pay insurance premiums or finance winter vacations.

One financial institution serving the North county, the Bank of America, reported that payments in its statewide distribution will average $152 per saver or an increase of $2.08 over last year.

The bank will begin mailing its Christmas club checks November 15.

The $1.4-million is the total reported by three institutions serving the North county — Bank of America, Crocker-Anglo National Bank and First Western Bank.

Wells Fargo bank's branches in the North county are new this year and as a result, the Christmas club saving program was not significant enough to be reported.

Of the bank branches reporting figures, one of the largest totals was listed by the Westlake Shopping center branch of the Bank of America.

A. J. Zirpoli, vice president of the branch, said that checks totaling $340,000 would be distributed to savers.

THE TWENTIETH DAY of this month will mark the twenty-first birthday of one of the world's most remarkable engineering feats — the completion of a 1420-mile lifeline from Dawson Creek in British Columbia to a junction with the Richardson highway in Alaska, 100 miles southeast of Fairbanks.

That lifeline became famous as the Alcan highway now called the Alaska highway, and through the years it has acquired a reputation as one of the most adventuresome and challenging roads in North America.

We had the opportunity to drive the Alaska highway this month during a two-week intermission in this business of the Fourth Estate and we'll report without any reservations whatsoever that the highway fully lives up to its reputation.

For about 1200 of those 1420 miles are gravel roadway (in Alaska the highway is paved), and if you don't think eight days of motoring over pebbles, stones and hardpacked clay isn't an adventure, then we have been enmeshed in freeway driving too long.

The highway was born in 1942 because of the outbreak of World War II. Alaska at that time was supplied primarily by shipping and because of the wartime hazards involved in this sort of supply system, the United States and Canadian governments reached an agreement on building a highway through Canada's British Columbia and Yukon Territory.

The U.S. Army Engineer Corps was handed the task of building the road through country unchanged since the days of the early explorers. In only eight months the corps completed a task said at the time to border on the impossible.

Today, the Alaska highway is maintained by the Canadian Army Corps of Engineers and the highway is divided into 50-mile maintenance districts.

The purpose of establishing a district every 50 miles was to ensure that no part of the highway was at an unreasonable distance from a central maintenance station.

ALTHOUGH the highway is gravel, it is considered by road builders to be the best-engineered and best-maintained major gravel highway in the world.

Despite the fact it climbs as high as 4200 feet above sea level and follows a meandering course across difficult wilderness terrain, the highway has only a smattering of what might be considered steep grades.

Every grade and curve is marked by a sign. There are so many signs, in fact, that a number of fellow motoring tourists along the way comment that the highway was far better marked than in the paved roads and superhighways in their home states.

Although we were unaware of it at the outset, we discovered later that driving the highway in October was decidedly fortunate timing.

The folk who live along the highway told us that the road is in its finest garb in early fall after summer crews have finished grading and repair work.

Also in autumn, traffic along this lifeline is minimal. In fact, it was so minimal that it became routine to count only one or two other vehicles on the road in each hour of driving.

Strangely, the best time to drive the Alaska highway is in mid-winter—a time of year when most motorists would shudder at the prospect of embarking on a 1400-mile auto trip.

In mid-winter along the lifeline, the highway acquires a thick mantle of snow, which is packed down by huge trailer trucks carrying supplies to Alaska.

Because of the extreme low temperatures in this part of the world—20 to 40 below is common in winter—the hard-packed snow does not become slippery.

Instead, it covers the gravel and bumps and provides a safe, smooth roadway that one veteran trucker told us "is just like a California freeway."

PERHAPS THE greatest hazard facing a motorist at any time of the year except winter is the flying stone or rock, kicked up by a passing vehicle. It is an unwritten law of the highway that you slow down when approaching another vehicle to prevent this.

Unfortunately, it is a law not universally obeyed. We arrived in Alaska with two nicks and one gouge in our windshield—an annoying state of affairs that could have been prevented if the other guy had slowed down.

Next to flying stones, dust must be rated as the next hazard to be feared most. When the highway is dry, it becomes dusty. And you wouldn't believe how much dust can be generated by a truck-trailer passing you from the other direction.

Passing one of these giants is like driving headlong into a Bay Area fog bank with dark glasses on. Your only alternative is to immediately slow down and hope you'll still be on the roadway when the dust clears.

It is because of the dust, and the bumpy surface that there is a great hue and cry going on right now over paving the highway.

The United States has offered to pay a third of the cost and the State of Alaska has offered to pay another third—if Canada will pick up the remainder of the tab.

It sounds like quite a bargain for Canada—and it is—but the men who run the show in Ottawa have turned thumbs down on the proposal. Their reasoning is that Canada has far more vital projects waiting in the wings for funds and that paving the Alaska highway will have to wait.

LEAVING THE paving hassle, the stones and the dust aside, however, the overriding aspect of this lifeline is the country it passes through. It is spectacular. It is unbelievably beautiful.

It is 1420 miles of towering snow-capped mountains, more than a hundred swiftly moving rivers and creeks, scores of crystal-clear lakes and endless valleys of pine and birch.

As you drive through this vast, scenic wonderland that is almost totally bereft of human habitation, you feel as if you are the first person ever to see this wilderness land.

It is that primitive, that untouched by man, that desolate. It is something that a person who has lived all of his life in our urban centers should see.

For the wondrous works of man in his cities can never approach the architecture of nature when it has been left untouched and untrammelled.

Post Office Dedicated

Pacifica proudly dedicated its new post office Saturday afternoon. The new building is at 50 West Manor drive.

The dedication and a Chamber of Commerce luncheon earlier in honor of the post office was attended by a blue ribbon outpouring of city, county, state and civic officials.

A highlight of the dedication was an electronic transcription from San Mateo county Congressman J. Arthur Younger in Washington. Younger was represented at the ceremony by his field secretary, George A. McQueen of Burlingame.

In his address, Younger cited what he termed the meteoric growth of Pacifica and stressed the importance of developing facilities to provide top postal service.

He lauded Pacifica Postmaster W. Harold Wolf for his "outstanding administration" of the post office.

Raymond R. Germain, assistant director of the San Francisco Regional Post Office, gave the dedicatory address.

He noted that the nation's postal service was growing at the rate of 2½-billion pieces of mail annually.

State Senator Richard J. Dolwig of Atherton congratulated Pacificans and Postmaster Wolf on the new postal facility. He said the building had the effect of drawing the community together.

Master of Ceremonies at the ceremony was Pacifica Police Chief Nell Tremaine. He introduced State Assemblyman Leo Ryan, County Supervisors Alvin S. Hatch, Edward R. McDonald and T. Louis Chess; Pacifica Councilmen Jean Fassler, Fred Ballew and Mayor Harold Feyge.

"Progress has taken place and will take place."

The mayor was introduced at the luncheon by Mario Torrigliano, president of the chamber.

Restaurant Is Damaged

Fire caused an estimated $4000 damage to Sanford's restaurant at 7217 Mission street in Daly City shortly before midnight Thursday night.

Investigators said grease in a flue above a stove in the restaurant kitchen caught fire.

Flames broke through the roof of the wood frame building before the fire was brought under control by Daly City firefighters.

Damage was confined to the kitchen and the roof area around the flue.

Fairmont Group Names Officers

A temporary board of directors of the Fairmont Subdivision Improvement association has been named.

The board will serve until a general election can be held.

The officers are: Fred S. Stearns, president; Donald D. Silverthorne Jr., vice president; Richard D. Kalman, controller; Robert Baumann, corresponding secretary and membership chairman; David J. Kruse, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Horanzy, recording secretary, and Edward R. Libonati, parliamentarian.

The officers will draw up the bylaws of the association.

JOHN BURTON is a guy who just can't seem to get away from courts.

First it was basketball courts. Now it's courts of law (in a positive way, please note).

Burton, a Lincoln High school, San Francisco State college basketball star of a decade and more ago who would rather draw a chuckle from the grandstands than engage in a fashionable quasi-intellectual library discussion, is now a serious criminal lawyer and the incisive spokesman for the San Francisco branch of the Young Democrats.

John hasn't really changed, though. Just his audience. Either he's adjusted to it, or, more probably, it's adjusted to him.

We best remember Burton as the campus' dead-panned comedian, as the serious-faced basketball guard who would dribble the ball down-court behind his back, pop a huge Fleer's Double-Bubble in the face of the enemy, and drive through him for a lay-up.

Don't get the idea that John was a court clown. He simply had the elusive knack of being able to inflict humor on effectiveness.

In his senior year, 1954, at State, he was an all-conference selection who was called in one campus praiseworthy article, "A colorful crowd-pleaser, keen student of the game, clever ball-handler and play-maker."

Burton had, indeed, been called a poor man's Bob Matheny (Ed. Note: outstanding Cal ball-handler at the time), and some had even gone so far as to label him a desperate man's Bob Cousy.

As State sports editor at that time, we preferred to call him a rich man's John Burton. And also noted that neither Matheny nor Cousy could whistle between his teeth and blow bubbles at the same time.

Even though usually cast in the role of playmaker, Burton one time scored 20 points against a solid USF squad, which included a budding sophomore star named Bill Russell.

During the same week of the Don tilt, John broke a State scoring record for guards with another 20-point output against Cal Poly.

BUT IT was as the campus impersonator that John achieved perhaps his greatest glory, to wit, and as reprinted from a sports column of a San Francisco daily at that time:

"John Burton, S.F. State basketball star, has had the chance to indulge his hobby of collecting athletic sweaters and block insignia from virtually every school on the Pacific Coast. And as a dead-pan prankster, he enjoys coming to school dressed as a California footballer or a Pepperdine college quints letterman.

"Burton enters the Army after June graduation. His campus friends confidently expect that on his first furlough home he'll return as an Eskimo or a Swiss navy admiral."

That columnist wasn't kidding. One time John posed (in a Cal Poly sweater equipped with more medals than a Joe Stalin state ball uniform) as Alex Bravo, the Mustang halfback hero. (Bravo later put in a stint as a defensive back with the Raiders).

Being just of the Army after a two-year term, Burton at this time wasn't as well known around campus as he had been, so acting as Bravo was no great problem.

Bravo wasn't due on campus until the next day and by the time he arrived and announced himself, there was hardly a soul left who would believe him.

And then there was the time John talked one of his newly-arrived campus friends into posing as a character, created solely in John's active mind, named Archie San Sebastian, who, according to Burton, was just out of the Navy where he had been an all-service fullback and had compiled all but unbelievable records.

The hoax got as far as the campus newspaper, but stopped just short of "Archie's" debut for a skeptical Joe Verducci, who always did suspect big, fast fullbacks during an era at State when he had difficulty in acquiring little, fast linemen.

AFTER BURTON's brief year's return to college following his service duty, he decided that a law degree, not a teaching credential, was what he really wanted.

There followed a year at Hastings, two years at USF, and a year and a half as a deputy attorney general, and finally, last year, a law partnership with his brother, State Assemblyman Phil Burton.

The firm specializes in criminal law, personal injury, and divorce cases, the latter about which John, a bachelor, can be completely objective.

Although president of the San Francisco Federated branch of the organization, John says that he has no Young Democrats and spokesman for the progressive forceable political ambitions other than to "remain active in the party."

If John ever does run for anything, however, we believe the key to whatever success he has will be found in the following excerpt from a conversation we had with him:

"Been seeing you a lot on television lately, John," we said.

"Very articulate, aren't I?" said John with the familiar tongue in the dead-pan cheek.

"Yes, and one time, there, I almost thought I saw you smiling."

There followed the noise of John Burton laughing at himself.

We don't know what kind of lawyer—or politician—John Burton is or will be, but if he can transfer his talent of taking himself lightly, while still getting the job done, into law and politics, then those who august bodies of human relations will be one heckuva lot more fortified.

Rams, SSF Clash Friday Night

Contest Could Decide League Championship

First place and probably the championship of the North Peninsula Football league will be at stake Friday night when the South San Francisco Warriors and the Westmoor Rams clash at South San Francisco.

Both the Warriors and the Rams share the league lead with identical 3-0 records.

After Friday's contest, each school will have one game remaining. Westmoor will host El Camino and South San Francisco will be at home for Terra Nova November 15.

The league leaders each tuned up for their big game by winning their third straight league contest last week.

Westmoor rolled easily past arch cross-town rival, Jefferson, 35-6 while the Warriors turned back Oceana, 13-0.

Rams Down Arch Rival Jefferson

By RON BATES

With field general Bruce Hix back in action after a week's absence, the Westmoor Rams downed arch rival Jefferson Friday afternoon, 35-6, before a capacity crowd at the Rams' field.

The Rams' running power was evident as they completely outclassed the Indians on the ground, 283 yards to Jefferson's 85. The Indians fared better in the air, however, as they completed 11 passes for 128 yards.

Hix connected on only four passes for a total of 30 yards, but two of those aerials went for touchdowns.

One of his passes came in the first period to give the Rams a lead they never relinquished.

The Rams were first on the scoreboard after seven minutes of play when Hix spotted end Mark Mallinger on the eight-yard line and fired a bullet to him for a 26-yard scoring play.

The Indians gave the Rams another touchdown a minute later after halfback Leo Gotelli fumbled the kickoff on the Jeff 29. After an incomplete pass, the deceptive Hix handed the ball to halfback Ron Baker, who skirted left end for the touchdown.

The Rams almost made it three in a row when defensive back Mike Morrison snatched a loose fumble and ran 45 yards for a touchdown, only to have it called back, because one of his teammates was guilty of being offside.

Jeff got on the scoreboard in the second period after end Paul Howe snatched a deflected pass from quarterback Don Fiscaro on the two-yard line. Fullback Steve Namanny pounded in for the score.

Hix set up the third Rams' score when he ran 14 yards to the one-yard line in the second period and then let Baker take it in for the touchdown.

The Rams scored in the opening minutes of the second half after the Indians fumbled on their own 12. Fullback Dave Mahoney ran it in on the next play.

The final tally of the game came in the last quarter when Hix passed to Jim McHale in the flat for an 18-yard scoring play.

Defense Is Key Factor In S.S.F. Win

The South San Francisco Warriors, given a stout effort by its defense, eased past the troublesome Oceana Sharks Friday afternoon, 13-0.

A rock-ribbed defense, composed of Mike Ruiz, Hugo Cisneros, Joe Del Carlo, John Francis, Bob Baptista, and Dan Crowe thwarted every Oceana drive of the afternoon, the most convincing coming in the early going after Ken Cozby had intercepted a Larry Cervelli pass at the Warriors' 39 yard stripe.

Linebacker Ron Labrum killed the threat, when he stole a Steve McCaughey aerial at the 13 yard line.

Along with yesterday's shut-out, the Warrior defense has surrendered 15 points in three league games.

The Warriors appeared to be en route to their first tally of the afternoon in the waning minutes of the first period when Ron Davis snagged a 30 yard pass from Cervelli. A 15 yard interception nullified the play but the Industrial City residents came back to strike on the second play of the following period.

Fullback Greg Jones took a screen pass from Cervelli and behind a wall of blockers for the first ten yards, rambled 60 yards for the score. Sam Pretari's kick was no good.

South San Francisco came back in the final stanza to wrap up the contest when Crowe sprinted 33 yards for the goal line on a slant off tackle. Pretari added the extra point.

Crowe had set the stage for the counter one play earlier on a 24 yard jaunt.

Bucs Win Again; Cats Take Lead

Here is a rundown on action in touch football leagues sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department:

FIFTH GRADE
Jim Wyatt's PAL Pirates hung another trophy on the wall this week. Their prize was a win over the PAL Cougars by a 12-7 margin.

Jim McGill was the big man for the Pirates. He tallied both Pirate scores: the first on a 35-yard running play, the second on a 30-yard punt rumbuck.

The win keeps the Pirates in first place with a perfect record. Sharing second place this week are the OLPH Bugs and the PAL Tigers. After dropping a game to the Tigers last week, the Bugs bounced back and put up a great battle to squeeze by the YBA Renegades in an 8-6 ball-game.

Barry Clark tossed a 20-yard touchdown pass to Mike Galli for the Bugs' first score. After the Renegades tied it up, Steve Holmberg made the difference when he caught a Renegade behind his own goal line for a two-point safety.

The PAL Tigers spoiled the debut of the reorganized Holy Angels Lions with a 35-0 win. Damon Katz opened the scoring with a 35-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

The PAL Rams smashed through the BYA Blues 26-0. Tom Prize was the Ram star, running for three touchdowns. Robin Crawford also contributed a 20-yard TD run and then ran for the extra point.

SIXTH GRADE
The PAL Eagles had a tough time getting past the OLPH Golds, 23-6. The Golds did what no one else had done this season—score against the Eagles.

The PAL Raiders won a close ball game with the PAL Jets. Mike Kistorros iced the game with a final 30-yard touchdown run.

SEVENTH AND EIGHTH GR.
The BYA Roofing Cats took undisputed hold on first place in the seventh grade league by knocking out the PAL Braves, 13-0.

The PAL Vikings rambled over the Holy Angels Titans 20-0.

Holy Angels Giants moved by the OLPH Steamrollers in the eighth grade league by a score of 6-0. A touchdown pass from Ralph Fonseca to halfback Don Bellumini gave the Giants a last second win over the Steamrollers.

Cypress Hills Opens 18 Holes
Cypress Hills will begin operation of an 18-hole golf course today.

A second nine-hole course has been added to the present nine-hole operation.

The new nine greens were seeded in April of this year. A course spokesman said the new nine greens would become the back nine and the old course the front nine.

CSM Mentor Optimistic Over Cagers

With four returnees from last year's basketball squad and four all-league prep stars joining the team, College of San Mateo coach Jack Avina's remarks about the upcoming season are understandably optimistic.

"As far as material is concerned, we have it," Avina cited further proof for his optimism by stating: "We have a proven front line in Mike Gilman and John Carmichael."

Avina picks San Jose City college as the top team in the conference since the Jaguars have five out-of-state stars.

Topping the list of returnees is Gilman (6-4) who was voted the Bulldogs' most valuable player last year and will play forward or guard during the 63-64 season.

At 6-4, Carmichael, who was CSM's second leading rebounder and third leading scorer last year, may be forced to switch to the center spot from forward unless freshman center Leo Wilson from Half Moon Bay can fill the key with his 6-6 frame.

From Ravenswood's 1963 SPAL champs the Bulldogs are blessed with a guard whom Avina considers the best in northern California, Milky Johnson, a 5-11 member of the All-SPAL team last year. Also from Ravenswood comes George Raybon (6-2).

From South San Francisco comes Dick Drake (6-2), former scoring leader of the Peninsula league and an All-County selection, and Dave Parenti (5-10), an all-league selection in the new North Peninsula league last season.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

ARE YOU interested in a different and delicious way to use a pound of ground meat? Did I hear a loud affirmative answer? Probably so, for we are always looking for a new way to use this inexpensive meat that appears on the shopping list frequently in most homes.

MEAT BALLS SAUERBRATTN

1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
1 1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sour cream
1 1/2 cups water
1 bay leaf
8 cloves
6 peppercorns
2 tablespoons tomato paste
3 tablespoons brown sugar
8 ginger snaps
Mix beef with onion, egg, salt, pepper and marjoram. Shape into 1 1/2-inch balls.
Melt butter in saucepan. Brown meat in butter or margarine. Turning them frequently to keep them round and browning nicely.
Combine all the rest of the ingredients—except the sour cream—and simmer with the meat balls for 1/2 hour. Take the meatballs out and place them on a hot serving platter. Stir in the liquid in which they are cooked. Stir in sour cream and pour this over the meat balls.
Serve with noodles with caraway seed sprinkled in them.

RECENTLY I received this dessert recipe from a friend and could hardly wait for a chance to try it. A luncheon recently gave me a chance to serve this delicious dessert and my guests liked it so well I felt I should pass it on to you good cooks.

ORANGE DATE CAKE

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
Two-thirds cup buttermilk
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Cream butter or margarine with sugar until light and fluffy. Then beat in the 2 eggs, one at a time, creaming well after each addition. Sift 2 cups sifted cake flour with 1 teaspoon baking soda and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with 2-3 cup butter milk; blend well. Add grated orange rind, dates and nuts. Turn into greased pan 9 by 13 by 2 inches.
Bake 375 degrees for 40 minutes, or until done. Remove from oven; cool for 10 minutes; pour sauce over cake and allow cake to cool in pan. Cut in squares to serve. Garnish each serving with a dollop of whipped cream, if you like. Serves 12.

SAUCE

1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
until clear, about 10 minutes.
Combine the ingredients in a sauce pan and cook

DO YOU have the same experience with buttermilk that I do? You use the 2-3 cup called for in the recipe and then wonder what to do with the rest. Of course you can always make pancakes or some cake that uses it, but usually you just put it back in the refrigerator and there it stays until one day you throw it out. Well there is a dried buttermilk on the market that I used in the orange date cake recipe and it works fine. You might be interested in it.

WE WILL close today's column with a recipe we all can use. It comes from Mrs. Margy Bensen, 2680 Forty-third avenue, San Francisco.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

EXCITING THINGS are happening in St. Francis Heights these days and they are a direct result of the exemplary work being done by dedicated people who are excited about the St. Mary's Help building fund drive.

Excitement is infectious, and the infection of the volunteer workers and the Mary's Help Nurses' alumnae apparently has spread rapidly and extensively. According to Mrs. Anne Murphy, one of the chief organizers, the St. Francis Heights group has enlisted the aid of such well known media people as Carolyn Anspacher, Duke Miller, Shirley Herold, Del Courtney, Al Collins and Ron Rem.

Howard Nally, manager of the Serra theater, has pledged the receipts of Monday night's showing of "The Birds" to the building fund and Larry Robinson, general manager of Gateway Chevrolet, has donated television time to advertise the drive and will provide 1964 convertibles that will be used in the big Mary's Help fund drive parade Sunday, Mrs. Murphy said.

The campaign has swung into high gear the past two weeks and the results are rather remarkable. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will be out Saturday distributing Mary's Help kits and pledge cards. On Sunday, many of the area's religious leaders, sports figures and social and civic representatives will take part in a parade. Monday, Mrs. Murphy explained, the drive will culminate with a massive walk for St. Mary's Hospital fund.

"We have established offices at 21 St. Francis Square Shopping center and there will be a nurse on duty daily from 1 until 4 p.m. to answer questions, dispense coffee and pledge cards and sign up volunteers to take part in the walk.

"The women will be assigned districts when they sign-up and they will pick up their identification and collection envelopes on Sunday after the parade and return them to the headquarters on Monday after they have canvassed their areas," Mrs. Murphy said.

"We are very anxious to have people drop by the office or to phone PL 6-9291 for information and to offer to donate their time either to the actual walk or to work on recruitment of volunteers over the telephone," Mrs. Murphy said.

The committee is planning a thank you party for all the volunteer helpers Monday.

"As soon as an area canvas is completed the worker will return the collection envelope to the headquarters where the money will be counted while the workers are served refreshments and have a chance to mingle socially with the many distinguished guests who have promised to be on hand," Mrs. Murphy said.

THE PACIFICA Artists guild's annual formal show this past weekend at the Pedro Point firehouse was a delight to everyone who attended.

Appreciative guests filed past the assembled paintings and craft work constantly during the show hours Saturday and Sunday, testifying to the fine reports that were circulated by those who attended the festive preview showing Friday.

LOCAL WOMEN who find themselves a little confused about our country's foreign aid policy should take a few hours tonight and attend the regular meeting of the League of Women Voters, Daly City branch.

According to Mrs. Lionell Farber, president of the group, the meeting will begin at 8 in the home of Mrs. Troy Daniels, 67 Parkwood drive, and anyone interested in attending is urged to come. Transportation may be arranged by contacting Mrs. Daniels at PL 5-6229, Mrs. Farber said.

Northern San Mateo county residents Mrs. Rudy Enberg, Mrs. Fred Wright, Mrs. William Ross, Mrs. Monte Hill, Mrs. Lester Candee and Mrs. Harold Faulkner are among the many women actively preparing for the World Concern Tea to be given Thursday, November 14, at Lakeside Presbyterian church in San Francisco.

According to Mrs. Arthur Baez, publicist for the event, this will be the second year the church's Women's association has sponsored the tea to raise funds for foreign missions.

Tables displaying objects from Hawaii, Brazil, Korea, Japan, Holland, Austria, India and Mexico will fill the social hall where tea will be served from 1 until 4 p.m. and again from 7 to 9 p.m. by women wearing costumes native to the lands being honored at the tea.

Mrs. Baez announced that among the special guests attending will be exchange students from San Francisco State college.

The public is invited to attend and baby sitting will be provided for children from 1 until 2 p.m. so that mothers of young children may enjoy the afternoon gathering.

Members of the Pacifica branch of the American association of University Women will hear fellow member Jaye Reinhardt lecture on the theory and method of the new math curriculum being taught in Pacifica schools when they meet next Wednesday night.

The program has been arranged by the area chairman for education, Mrs. Judy Adams.

"I FELT LIKE A VIP when I arrived but now I feel like a VEP, a very excited person as well," commented Timo Visapaa, one of the honored guests at the Abraham Lincoln P-TA international night program when he was introduced to the large gathering of P-TA MEMBERS.

Twenty-three elaborate and tasty desserts from 23 foreign lands and table after table of memorabilia from foreign lands were focal points of attention during the evening of educational lectures and fellowship.

Mrs. Antonette Hersom was chairman of the event and she was ably assisted with the decorations by Mrs. John Korahrens and Linda Taylor.

THE CURIOUS spectre who prowls the Palmetto drive area of Westlake each dawn picking dandelion blossoms from people's gardens is only an iguana fancier out seeking tidbits to suit his lizard friend's fancy appetite.

James Madden collects the flowers as he goes to work each morning and, if the local supply isn't sufficient to appease his pet's hunger, he stops near Third and Howard streets in San Francisco where he has found a few stray plants.

Incidentally, he does his collecting on the way to the office because that is where he must keep his "friend," Mrs. Madden doesn't allow iguanas in the house, no matter how friendly they are.

Art in Pacifica

A SCULPTURE entitled "Carmen," the work of Martin Alley, is examined by Carol Prudencio of 141 Park Plaza drive, Daly City, left; Ben Isham, general manager of the Western Art Mart in Oakland and Ann Eckles of 1662 Crespi drive, Pacifica. They were among visitors to the fourth annual Formal

Fine Arts and Crafts Exhibit, sponsored over the weekend at the Pedro Point Firehouse by the Art Guild of Pacifica. Miss Eckles had three oil paintings in the show. Names of prize winners will be carried in these columns next week. (Post-Times photo)

Court St. Mary Advances Plans For Style Show

Fashion show plans are in progress for "Spring Portraits," the pre-lenten showing of clothes by The Fashion of Westlake, sponsored by Court St. Mary, Catholic Daughters of America.

Mrs. Arthur Dikas, program chairman, held a "paper models" cutting session at her Westlake home last night in preparation for the assembly of program covers for the February 1 event.

Members, armed with scissors and paste, spent a busy evening and were served refreshments by the hostess after the work session.

Tuesday evening a co-ordinating meeting will be held in the Wellington avenue home of Mrs. Carl Rolland, investment chairman, at which time progress reports will be made to Mrs. Jon H. Gilmour, general chairman, and Mrs. Virgil Zaro, co-chairman.

The fashion show will be held in the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish hall, according to Mrs. Maurice Clark, grand regent of the court.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU ADVICE

Burial Contracts Need Close Study

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor, Better Business Bureau
"Barometer"

THE NATIONAL Funeral Directors' Association, representing more than 14,000 of the nation's funeral directors, discourages pre-need burial contracts that do not adequately protect the public interest.

The association believes that a director should accede to the wishes of a client who voluntarily applies for a pre-need burial contract but suggests that any funds provided by the client for much pre-need service be kept intact and deposited in a bank of his choice.

The association also suggests that an instrument be drawn stating the purpose of such a deposit and reserving to the client the right to withdraw the funds, or to change the person to whom the funds are to be paid, at any time.

Big savings and promises of "bargain" rates are stressed in many of the promotional sales plans.

Sales commissions and costs, which commonly run to 25 to 30 per cent or even more of the purchase price and costs, must be added to the cost of the funeral.

According to surveys of reputable funeral homes, it was found that the average and normal over-all profit of a reputable director is less than 15 per cent.

With these figures it is very doubtful that any "plan" could sell services and merchandise for little more than half the amount and still make a profit when the reputable funeral director, operating with such a narrow margin, could only reduce prices by operating at a loss.

Interest on pre-need plans is another item. Every cent paid to someone other than the purchaser as part of a pre-financed plan actually increases the cost of the funeral. Money at three per cent, with interest compounded annually doubles in 24 years; at four per cent it doubles in 18 years; and five per cent in 15 years; and, at six per cent it doubles in twelve years.

So-called escalator clauses are found in many contracts. Such a clause provides that if the cost of services, facilities and merchandise has increased at the death of the client, the survivors must pay such excess to the funeral home or the quality and type of merchandise may be reduced by a corresponding amount.

Some contracts enable the seller to substitute merchandise.

MOST OF pre-need contracts are written under time-payment plans. Some contracts are sold with credit life insurance to provide for payment of any balance remaining unpaid at the time of the purchaser's death.

Other contracts declare the balance payable in full if the purchaser dies before the entire contract is paid.

Under this type of a contract the "participating" funeral home is under no obligation to perform any service until full payment is made.

Some pre-need contracts provide the contract null and void if the client is 30 days or more late in paying an installment. All previous payments can be kept under the contract.

There are other costs involved. Some contracts are vague regarding these extra costs while others indicate that a definite amount, such as 25 per cent or 30 per cent of the total contract price will be used to absorb sales and administrative costs.

Contracts add a "service charge" to each installment.

Another type of time-payment plan provides for the client to negotiate for a loan equal to the agreed cost of the funeral with a finance company. This sum is deposited to the purchaser's account in a bank, but the pass-book is kept by the beneficiary who is the funeral director.

The charges of a $765 pre-arranged funeral would add up to approximately $138.60 in thirty-six months.

The financing costs would be reduced by whatever interest or dividend payment were made on the $765 savings account during the three-year period.

TWO CONTRACTS are used in some promotions. Payments under the first contract, amounting to 30 per cent of the total obligation, covers sales and administrative costs. Under the second contract, the remaining 70 per cent of the money is to be used to create a "reserve" to pay for the funeral.

No payments are credited to this account until the first contract has been fully paid.

Better Business Bureau advises you not to allow yourself to be high-pressured into making a hasty decision regarding the investment of your life savings in pre-arranged, pre-financed, funeral plans.

Check your contract thoroughly before you sign. The funeral directors and embalmers appointed for every state are organized primarily to keep people from being plundered by unethical funeral directors and are always ready to listen to any legitimate complaint.

Besides the 30-year-old National Funeral Directors' association, there is the 49-year-old National Selected Morticians and 50 public-serving state funeral directors' associations, as well as individual funeral directors who do a top job in policing their profession.

James J. Fassler of 2 Coronado drive, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that the hubcaps of his car had been stolen while the auto was parked in a carport.

'Miss Liberty' Being Sought By Company

Do you know an attractive girl, 18 to 24 years old, who would like to be queen of a float in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day and receive an all-expense-paid trip to Pasadena?

Well, the Farmers Insurance Group in Daly City-Colma is looking for a queen to be "Miss Liberty" on its "In God We Trust" float in the 1964 Tournament of Roses parade, according to agent Rino A. Ceccato.

Second place winner will receive an expense-paid trip to Portland to be the queen of the company's Portland Rose Festival float in June and the third place winner will receive an expense-paid trip to Pasadena to see the parade on New Year's Day.

Speech Meet Is Scheduled

The Individual Events Speech Tournament, sponsored by the Golden Gate Speech association, will be held Saturday at Rindan High school.

Westmoor participants and the events in which they will speak include Bill Spears, impromptu; Elaine Pistoletti, dramatic interpretation; Stefni Winter, humorous interpretation; Kim Miller, original oratory; and Anita Capps, original oratory. Students will be accompanied at the competition by speech coach Mary Ann Holden.

Thomas B. O'Brien of 224 Mariposa avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that someone had broken the left rear tail light on his auto, parked in front of his home.

Purity Stores Official Appointed to Head Drive

Robert F. DeWeese, Purity Stores' vice president, has been named chairman of the 1964 Cancer campaign to be staged in April by the San Mateo county branch of the American Cancer society.

DeWeese, vice president of food store chain, last year directed the business and industry phase of the annual ACS sales and operation with the fund drive. Under his leadership, more firms participated and more funds were realized.

The new county chairman, who resides with his wife, Dorothy, and five children at 75 Linden avenue, Atherton, has held this executive position with Purity Stores since 1960.

He is a native of Illinois, took his master's degree in business at Michigan State and served aboard submarines with the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Before joining Purity, DeWeese had widespread experience in food marketing in the U.S., Puerto Rico and Canada.

S.S.F. School Safe Cracked

South San Francisco police are following up leads in the burglary last Wednesday night of about $1200 from a safe at South San Francisco High school.

The money taken included receipts from athletic events, the cafeteria, and other smaller amounts from other sources.

"It would appear that the method used in this burglary may possibly be the same as that used in other recent high school safe jobs on the Peninsula," a South San Francisco police spokesman said.

In burglaries at San Carlos, Oceana, and Westmoor High schools in addition to South San Francisco, the safe-crackers pried into the safes very near the dials, and used the same type of chisel.

County History Recorded In New Stanger Writing

By HELEN DUFF

San Mateo is a small county. Yet several histories of this county have been written and a most significant new one, written by Dr. Frank M. Stanger, is about to appear. Dr. Stanger, a specialist in California history, is constantly searching for facts of local interest.

As director of the San Mateo County Historical Museum, people give him photographs, prints, pictures, diaries, letters, deeds, memoirs. Every item is grist for his mill.

Dr. Stanger also checks church records, county records, shipping lists, and every conceivable memorabilia.

Several histories have been published dealing with this area. There is to start with the history published in 1878 that looks like a Rand-McNally atlas and is filled with dozens of drawings that bring to life the farms and village homes of that period. There is a small but even more rare one of 1883, and Roy Cloud's two-volume work of 1928.

Dr. Stanger also published two such books — one in 1938 and the other in 1946. With half a million people now in San Mateo county there is need for another. Dr. Stanger's new history will be available to all who are interested.

The stories of old-timers are another source of history but they need to be checked for accuracy by documentary evidence. James Pease, for example, believed he arrived in California in 1818, but shipping lists show that the ship he came on was not here before 1838.

Maps also are more authoritative than old settlers' memories. The first county map was issued in 1868. Six other followed roughly at 10- or 15-year intervals. Several lawyers have consulted maps at the museum in building their cases on legal disputes. The museum has a complete file, on microfilm, from 1859-1932, of the county's first newspaper, the San Mateo County Gazette, published in Redwood City.

The new book begins with an account of the Indians, then covers the Spanish period and the Mexican, and brings events up to the present.

San Mateo, the county, was formed as an offshoot of San Francisco in 1856.

Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:
I am a parent of a teenage girl, so I know what I'm talking about when I tell you my story. I have a very dear friend with a teenage girl and I know that the girl is in real trouble.

I have seen her with the wrong kind of kids and she has been drinking. She is 15 years old and I'm sure if it were my daughter, I would want to know. I would like to know if you think I should tell her or not.

I'm afraid I would be butting my nose into someone else's business. However, if I were her, I would want to know. What do you think?

Mrs. R.O.

Dear Mrs. R. O.:
Mind your own business. You should have enough to keep your busy raising your own daughter let alone try to raise everyone else's. First of all, she probably wouldn't believe you.

Second, you would lose a friend because people don't like to have their faults told to them. And this would be showing a fault. We all want people to see only our best. It's human nature.

I believe she will probably react to the first, she won't believe you. Parents always see the bad in the other person's kids but never in their own. So you can talk until you're blue in the face and she will call you a liar.

Parents have a little switch in their heads that turns off any thing that is undesirable concerning their children. So forget what you have seen and keep a friend.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:
We were having a discussion. We have a friend who had to get married. The couple are both 17 years old. Her parents called the boys' parents and made them get married.

The boy had to quit school and get a job to support his new family. The couple are very unhappy. What would be the right thing to do in this case, which is getting more common every day?

H. G.

Dear H. G.:
You are right. It is getting to be a terrific problem, and growing quickly. I'm sure I will get a lot of nasty mail for what I'm going to say but I'm a firm believer in not making the couple get married.

It is wrong to make three suffer for a mistake that could have been prevented. For the rest of their married life, in most cases, the husband will blame the wife for ruining his life and vice versa.

She will say he made her give up her young life and forced her to raise a family. The bitterness will continue on through the young childhood of their son or daughter and cause the child to feel unwanted and a burden to his parents.

This kind of marriage usually ends in divorce after much sufferings on the part of all three members of the family. The child will probably have a strong feeling of insecurity and unhappiness.

The mother probably will try to return to work after living with her parents for a period of time and the husband will pay support to a child he rarely sees until the child is of legal age.

Three lives ruined. One, a young innocent bystander, will have a finger pointed at him or her, all his life.

Two, a young woman, who could have spared herself a great deal of suffering.

Three, a young man who was unable to continue his education and get a better position in life. All for a moment of weakness. This unfortunately is the picture.

No glamor, no fantasy, just facts. What should be done? Stop it before it starts by proper education in sex by parents.

If children are old enough to ask the question, they are old enough for the answer—not a fairy tale.

Know where your daughter and son are and what time you expect them home.

Keep them busy—their bodies as well as their minds.

Take an interest in what they do and say.

Know their friends—and not just to say hello. Know them well. Invite them into your

Westmoor Whirl

By SHEILA STAVISH

BONING UP on osteology, members of the two physiology classes appeared at school last week clutching the skeletal remains of their previous evening's dinner.

One very conscientious scholar appealed to a local butcher for a large soup bone—to be sliced longitudinally so that, she explained, she could study the diaphysis region.

Her order was cordially filled and the next day she proudly displayed the biggest, a two-foot specimen, identified by instructor Carl Kaufeldt as the right hind hoof of a steer.

Another student who didn't fulfill the "homework" assignment pleaded a valid excuse—the family had dined on spaghetti.

Two damsels in distress who couldn't climb poles discovered Westmoor's share of the stronger sex to be weak on chivalry and excuses as they appealed in vain for help in retrieving a volleyball net.

After fifteen frustrating minutes of trying to reach the ropes, the girls' naturally superior feminine logic came to the rescue and they found a chair fetched from the physical education office an efficient solution.

PHYSICS STUDENTS may enjoy playing with their blocks and little wheeled carts, but all is not play as they attempt to determine the co-efficient of friction with a 1000-gram mass on a level and inclined plane.

College-bound Westmoorites and their parents were enlightened on requirements, entrance examinations, scholarships and expenses at the annual College Night last evening.

Juniors spent two mornings penciling in squares recently as they were tested on the state-required aptitude and achievement exams.

Screams from the archery field do not indicate an accident, but merely that one of the girls was fortunate enough to hit the target. The inarticulate archers usually hit nothing but the grass.

Quarter final time begins today and will continue through Friday.

SECOND ANNUAL EVENT

Westmoor Hosts Foreign Students

Newcomers to Westmoor High school hailing from Chili to China will be honored today at the second annual reception for foreign students at Westmoor, sponsored by the International Friendship club.

The former American Field Service club is widening its horizons this year with the inclusion of additional programs offering visits abroad.

Foremost among these is the "Experiment in International Living," which offers a chance for people of almost any age to spend a summer in one of 46 countries throughout South America, parts of Africa and Asia and Europe.

Travelers under this program spend one month living with a family in the host country and one month touring the country with the Americans in the program.

For those students applying through Westmoor, the estimated cost for the student's family will be $300-$400. Westmoor will be able to contribute $750.

Commenting on the long range goals of the WHS group and the projects in general, Mary Jane Putz, president of the group, a recent AFS student from Italy, commented: "We're interested in people."

She expressed the feeling that world peace is based on co-operation and understanding among peoples of the earth, and "until they get together, there is no hope."

PAINTINGS STOLEN

George Henderson of Covina reported to Daly City police over the weekend that a total of 20 oil paintings had been stolen from his car, parked in the Cow Palace parking lot.

Leadership Conference Conducted

Mary Ann Holden and Mrs. Lois McNabb, both of the Westmoor English department, attended the bay section California Teachers' association leadership conference in Asilmar last month.

Principal speaker was Thomas Braden, chairman of the state board of education.

Braden felt that if students could be taught facts, not fairy tales, and interpretation of facts (for example the ability to think), the student could then make an intelligent decision.

Professional negotiation was the topic of a section meeting, attended by the two teachers. The importance of co-operation among boards, administrators and teachers was explored.

Both teachers said the conference gave them an opportunity to meet and talk with teachers from Northern and Central California.

"You have a chance to get ideas and find out what other teachers are doing," Miss Holden commented.

Students' Psychology Class Term Reports Are Varied

Mental illness, including psychosis and neurosis, psychological treating, personality growth and development, deviations in personality, and psychotherapy and psychoanalysis are among the 60 topics of the term reports to be given in Mrs. Rosemary Smith's psychology classes this year.

Given roughly two months to work on the report, each student is required to give a 20 minutes oral presentation. Many students use extra aid in their reports such as films, slides, charts, tapes, and guest speakers.

In previous years, one student gave the class the Duke university extra-sensory perception (ESP) test, while another mimeographed a type of human maze on paper for his classmates to figure out. Some students have taken psychological surveys.

Study Morris Plan Change

A special meeting of stockholders of the Morris Plan company of California will be held Friday to consider a plan to convert the company into a holding company, according to an announcement made by Ralph N. Larson, president. Under the plan the industrial loan company business and assets would be transferred to a new wholly owned industrial loan company subsidiary. The stockholders will also be asked to approve the splitting of the shares of the holding company on a two for one basis. Proposed changes would take effect December 31, 1963.

Skyline Plaza to Give Away New Auto Friday

The winner of a new 1964 Falcon automobile will be selected Friday night at the Skyline Plaza Shopping center.

A drawing for the Falcon and $1500 in other prizes culminates a month-long "Fall Festival" sales promotion at the center.

Secondary prizes will be awarded in a drawing to be held at 8:15 p.m. The new car winner will be selected at a 9:15 p.m. drawing.

In addition to the new automobile, the grand prize winner will receive a bonus award of 100 gallons of gasoline if he validates his ticket at one of the Skyline Plaza stores.

The runner-up awards include 14 men's and women's wrist watches and a $150 barbecue set.

Ray Foreina, president of the Skyline Plaza Merchants association, said that more than 10,000 persons already have received tickets for the two drawings.

Anti-Smog Auto Law Explained

Owners of cars made in 1949 or earlier need not be concerned with the new crankcase smog control law announced for the Bay Area last week, but anyone who buys a used car after January 1 next year will be affected.

Everyone else who keeps his present car need not rush out and get a $15-$18 control device until 1964, by which time every vehicle in the six Bay Area counties must be equipped with one by October 31.

According to the State Department of Motor Vehicles, about 670,000 used cars will change hands next year in the counties covered by the new law, and consequently must install the so-called "blow-by" devices if their cars are not already so equipped.

But under a voluntary program, all new cars of vintage 1962 and newer sold in this state have come equipped from the factory with the smog units.

For businesses, any firm that buys a commercial vehicle next year newer than 1949 must have a smog control device installed, if one is not already on the vehicle.

There will be an estimated 227,000 of these next year. As far as the rest of their fleet is concerned, however, businessmen needn't install the blow-bys until 1965, starting in January.

All new commercial vehicles must be equipped with smog units, of course.

Thus, every vehicle made from 1950 on must be equipped with a smog unit by the end of 1965.

Furthermore, as the law stands now, each vehicle will have to be checked by an authorized inspector annually to make sure the device has been installed and is in good working order.

There'll be an inspection fee of approximately $2 each time. The California Highway Patrol has been "invited" to perform the inspection job.

Commercial vehicle owners who have their own maintenance shops are exempted from the inspection requirement, whatever the age of their vehicles.

Locally as the result of yesterday's decision by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District board to implement the law authorized by the legislature, there has been little apparent reaction.

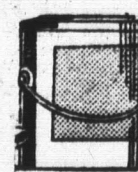

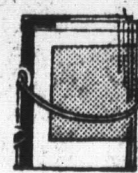

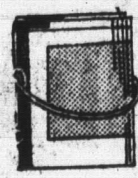

Neither the American Automobile association, with an estimated 48,000 members in San Mateo county, nor the National Automobile club, with an estimated membership of 23,000, has reported a flurry of interest or phone calls making inquiry.

Headquarters of the AAA told The Post-Times through a spokesman that that group's policy, in any event, has always been that "if it had been determined that ignition products do contribute to air pollution, then we should take whatever corrective steps are necessary and reasonably economical."

The California Trucking association endorsed that policy, according to Assistant Manager Richard Zeller, but is opposed to the matter of inspection fees, "along with a lot of other people."

Big Al's Gas House Is 'Blasting' Once Again

GEARY LEASON, "Big Al" of the Gas House, is again in pizza and beer action and invites you to stop by and enjoy the food, suds, and entertainment as provided by the Varsity Boys. The Mansoor Brothers have opened the door of All Baba, where you will enjoy the wonderful dishes of the Middle East. It's easy to see that it's banquet season, once you take a peek at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel reservation book. Best to hurry if you plan a holiday party here. Delightful luncheons and dinners go to make the Valdoro one of the most popular dine out stops in our town. A bit of old Italy — with beverages to match. Highlights at the Pedro Point Vagabond Chuck Wagon: The Child's Plate for $1.50 and The Toddler's Plate for 50 cents. "All you can eat" for Geary Leason mom and pop, just $2.85. A real family restaurant. Sky Deck restaurant features a special steak sandwich, including a salad, for just $1.50. Credit chef Tommy Yee for this taste production. Business men's lunches from one dollar.

Caravan Inn Features Family Style Dinners

Family-style dinners at the Mountain View Caravan Inn are attracting folks from all over the Peninsula, as well as San Jose. This is an "All you can eat for $2.25" special and one of the best restaurant "food bargains" on the beat. The Caravan Inn now features dancing Monday through Saturday — no cover or minimum charge. "Patti and Mac" provide the danceable music.

Richard and Florence Ho invite you to join them in celebrating the opening of their new China Garden restaurant. The location is at 2507 El Camino Real. Cultured Chinese cuisine prepared in true Hong Kong style. The Hos, who acquired their restaurant experience in the Orient, spare no kitchen secrets on their new China Garden restaurant menu.

Here's a drink that is bound to always be a winner, thanks to the Esquire Drink Book and the alertness of Enrico Romano, the Pacifica restaurateur who found it. "An Wilderness." Ingredients: One jug, one book, one thou (blonde or brunette). Don't know what the word "book" is doing in there, but it is.

A favorite stop on my entertainment and dining beat is Nick Gust's Rockaway Beach restaurant and motel, the answer to a night of fun or a month's vacation.

"Service in an atmosphere conducive to appreciative dining" fits Vince's Sea Food and Italian Restaurant to perfection.

FRED MARTINELLI, co-owner of the New Southern, says he thinks more tips on the races are passed out during the cocktail hour than is found under plates for the waiters during lunch and dinner hours. Hammond organ musical numbers by Helen Firman at Earl's "House of Fine Foods," Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Sil Oliva reports: It's been a "steamed clam stampede" at his Exposition Fish Grotto on Fisherman's Wharf since the season opened. Robert Pemberton and George Zedler present live entertainment seven nights a week at their Third Avenue Closet. Steak-minded people will make no mistake when ordering rib steak at Joe's of Westlake in Daly City. Cut it with a fork, if you like. About this time every year Frank Torres of Monterey has a "rough time" keeping track of his restaurant abalone ashttrays. Seems folks get the idea they would be nice to have around the house. P.S.: They are for sale, in case you're interested.

ART NORKUS and his entertaining musical group opened Halloween eve at the Chalet. It was a "treat" to hear such a fine dance combination. Norkus, who comes direct from the Jack Tar Hotel, bandstands Thursday, Friday, and Saturday eve at the Chalet — from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The Almaden Cafe del Rio specializes in French and Continental full course and a la carte dinners. Service from 5 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday; Sunday and Holidays from 3 p.m. Not open Monday and Tuesday. The Pioneer Hotel's Earl "Fatha" Hines gets around pretty good—musically speaking. Last week found him fronting the band for the Oakland Gents Chef luncheon at the Leamington Hotel. He is back in Woodside "88ing," as usual, that same p.m. Not many restaurants still serve full course Italian dinners starting at $2. But Nick Finocchio's San Francisco New Tivoli is doing just that — and seven courses, too.

Nortanita, a Sinaloa favorite and one of the most popular bolero singers on the Latin nitery circuit, has been added to the Sinaloa "Holiday in Mexico" revue. This formful and talented miss, plus Victor Buelna, The "Two Mosquitos," Los Castellanos, Juan El Mago, Armando Duval, and Sam Segraves and his orchestra give Luz Garcia's Powell street cantina one of the finest shows in the Bay Area. The "No cover charge for dinner guests from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m." hits the night-on-the-town budget bull's eye. Not open Sundays.

As has been demonstrated for years, Finocchio's in San Francisco is the show folks' show. Recently, among the show celebrities who saw Joe Finocchio's lavish musical revue were: Doris Day, Marnie Van Doren, Terry Moore and Sebastian Cabot.

Arnold Bischoff, who has presided over the "saucepans" of the finest hotels in Europe, is featuring gourmet dishes and old country cuisine, plus a selective menu that he and new general manager of the Sheraton-Villa Motor Inn, Frank Dennison, have enthusiastically prepared.

Princeton Inn-er, Milton Tomin, a "beer and straight shot" bartender, had a call, the other evening, for two French 75's.

"I don't have a gun display here," was Milt's comment. "In fact, the last time I shot a French 75 was back in World War I."

Although the Brentwood Lodge dining room is not open on Mondays, there is bar service and someone on hand to take your banquet reservations.

Banquet Rooms

Handy for Dance Guests

The new Hyatt House banquet room (seats groups of 25 or 30) has access to the dance floor. Same accommodations are available in Johnny Kan's upper-level dining room when using the Pasha Room. Cantonese food prepared for groups of 25 to 100 persons. Dinner-dancing to Bob Weisman and his orchestra; entertainment in the cocktail lounge with Rosemarie at the piano. Spacious quarters for day, week, or monthly guests. Coffee shop open 24 hours a day. Plenty of free parking.

All records have been shattered at Keith's Burlingame Chicken House during his "All you can eat (per person on premises) for $2" special. This offer is for a limited time only. So don't be left out. Dine here tonight.

Barney O'Malia of Barney's Casino, Lake Tahoe (South Shore) fame, supplies us with these statistics: The average Nevada gambling casino uses up 1400 pair of dice in a week. Each pair costs $1.25. If one dice hits a silver dollar, or even falls on the floor, it's considered marred and is taken out of the game.

The Associated Plumbers of the Bay Area held a dinner-party at Phil Lehr's downtown Steakery in San Francisco.

Blood Bank Week Noted in Pacifica

Pacifica Mayor Harold Feyge and the city council have joined in proclaiming this week as "Blood Bank Week" in Pacifica. Climax of the week will be the visit of the San Mateo Memorial Blood Bank mobile blood unit Saturday at the Masonic temple in Sharp Park from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. This will be Blood Bank Day in Pacifica. Last year, 80 pints of blood were supplied to Pacificans and their families and to locally employed persons. The ladies of Mizpah Fellowship, Inc., will have a pancake breakfast ready for all donors after blood is given.
